

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Curtis A. Bradley and Jack L. Goldsmith (Foreign Sovereign Immunity, Individual Officials, and Human Rights Litigation, p. 9) thank David Denton, William Scharf, and Aaron Voloj for research assistance.

Daniel R. Ernst (Pierson v. Post: The New Learning, p. 31): In preparing this note I benefitted greatly from the research assistance of Fred Turner, the encouragement of Mary Dudziak, the insight into James Kent of Daniel J. Hulsebosch, and a Summer Writers Grant from the Georgetown University Law Center.

William E. Nelson, Harvey Rishikof, I. Scott Messinger, and Michael Jo (The Supreme Court Clerkship and the Polarization of the Court: Can the Polarization Be Fixed?, p. 59): The authors are indebted to the Filomen D'Agostino and Max E. Greenberg Faculty Research Fund of New York University School of Law for research support, to Samuel Estreicher for his suggestion that we write this article, and to the Vanderbilt Law Review for permission to publish in the Green Bag this condensed version of an article it had already accepted for publication.

Elizabeth Chamblee Burch (There's a Pennoyer in My Foyer: Civil Procedure According to Dr. Seuss, p. 105): Thanks to my mother who read every Seussian tongue-twister so many times to me that I had to look up only a few lines.

CREDITS

All items published with permission of the copyright holder, if any.

Front cover (inside): Wrapper art, Supreme Court Sluggers trading cards.

Page 4: Baron Bramwell. Courtesy of Eugene R. Fidell.

Page 7: William Safire. Executive Office of the President, www.whitehouse.gov/news/releases/2006/12/images/20061215-1_p121506sc-0220jpg-515h.html.

Page 26: William B. Camp. Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, www.occ.gov/camp.htm.

Page 30: Doorknob. Courtesy of the owner, Allan B. Ecker.

Page 44: Lady Justice. Courtesy of the Court of Common Pleas, Hancock County Courthouse, Findlay, Ohio.

Page 103: Theodor Geisel. Library of Congress, Prints & Photographs Division, New York World-Telegram and the Sun Newspaper Photograph Collection, reproduction number LC-USZ62-124309 (1957).

Page 105: Created by Elizabeth Chamblee Burch using Wordle, <http://wordle.net>.

Page 123: Mary the cat. Courtesy of the photographer, Elizabeth Chamblee Burch.

FEATURED BOOKS

Featured books may be purchased from the major booksellers (unless otherwise indicated) as well as from any speciality outlets listed after a particular book.

John Earl Haynes, Harvey Klehr, and Alexander Vassiliev, Spies: The Rise and Fall of the KGB in America (Yale University Press 2009) (article, p. 85), may be purchased from the publisher at yalepress.yale.edu/yupbooks/home.asp.