

EX ANTE

OUR MISTAKE

A ttentive reader Paul Haas recently asked us about a line in the Spring 2011 issue:

Did you really mean to say "costumers" (instead of "customers") on p. 306, last para, 2nd sentence?

The answer, of course, is no. And we thank him for the chance to say that the sentence in question should read:

It was an early user of surveys sent to prospective customers to build interest and patronage.

CANADIAN GREEN BAG UPDATE

Here is another pair of mistakes that reveal yet again our limited knowledge of the Green Bag.

First, in the Winter 2004 issue of the Bag we purported to republish "the entire Canadian Green Bag" (which consisted of a single 12-page issue published on January 1, 1895 and an accompanying one-page subscription form). See The Canadian Green Bag, 7 GREEN BAG 2D 177 (2004). Since then we have discovered that our claim to an "entire" republication may have been an exaggeration. At least some copies of the Canadian Green Bag appear to have had two pages of advertisements not included in our copy. Those additional ads are reproduced on the next two pages (356 and 357).

The Quebec Consolidated Digest

IN TWO ROYAL 8vo VOLUMES.

Price $15; $7.50 payable on delivery of each volume

-------

The publishers again beg to call the attention of those members of the profession who have not already subscribed to this important work which is progressing steadily. The publishers believe they have only to point out some facts relative to this publication in order to secure from the profession that further support to which they feel they are entitled. The fact that the total price charged for this complete Digest of all the Decisions of the Province of Quebec, to subscribers, only exceeds by $5.00 the price charged for the last supplement to the Quebec Law Digest, should be in itself a sufficient reason for subscribing.

Again, subsortbers only can obtain the work at the above price. To non-subscribers the price will be $25.00 for the 2 vols.

The names of the editors are a sufficient guarantee that the work will be all that has been claimed for it, viz. :--

The highest degree of accuracy obtainable (secured by a system of double checking). Common sense system of classification. Each case cross-referenced where possible. Each case headed with catch-words in antique type. Order of cases al<sub>1</sub>-habetically arranged, according to principal catch-word. The DIGEST will show the present state of jurisprudence upon a given point. A condensed style combined with accuracy of expression. Revised Reports cited as far as completed. Statutes and articles of the Codes referred to. List of cases digested will show cases overruled, and remarks concerning them.

We trust the profession will respond freely to this attempt to supply them with a high-class law work at the very lowest possible price.

JOHN LOVELL & SON.

Publishere

23 and 25 St. Nicholas Street, MONTREAL,

From the Canadian Green Bag, Jan. 1, 1895.

Ex Ante

From the Canadian Green Bag, Jan. 1, 1895.

Ex Ante

Maybe now we really have republished "the entire Canadian Green Bag," albeit in two parts, separated by seven years. But maybe not. We will wait awhile before making that claim again.

Second, in the same Winter 2004 issue, we went on to describe the Canadian Green Bag as a "remarkably complete failure":

Our research has uncovered no indication that any contemporary publication noticed either the creation or the expiration of the northern Bag. And no other law journal cited any of the articles in it for nearly a century. The first and so far only scholarly reference to the Canadian Green Bag appeared in a reputable Canadian law review in 1993.

And again it turns out that we were mistaken. A few moments spent on Google Books reveals that while it might still be fair to characterize our Canadian relation as a failure – even on the web there is no indication that it survived beyond its inaugural January 1895 issue – it is not fair to say that the "first and so far only scholarly reference to [it] appeared in . . . in 1993." See, e.g., JAMES G. SNELL & FREDERICK VAUGHAN, THE SUPREME COURT OF CANADA 276 (1985).

WAITING FOR WAYNE STATE

A nswers to the recent flurry of questions about what makes for a good law school could be coming soon from Wayne State University, which recently invited a Green Bag editor to weigh in:

Greetings,

Hanover Research, an independent research firm, has been retained by the Wayne State University Law School to conduct a survey of law professionals concerning the factors they consider to be important in determining law school quality and reputation.

To participate, please use this link: Start Survey

This survey should only take about 10-15 minutes of your time, and your participation is greatly appreciated. All participants will remain anonymous.

Best regards,

Jay Williams jwilliams@hanoverresearch.com Hanover Research

The Hanover Research Council | 1101 Connecticut Avenue | 3rd Floor | Washington | DC | 20036 | USA Unsubscribe | Report Abuse