

EX ANTE

OUR MISTAKE

Recently, attentive reader Matthew T. Heffner pointed out to us that:

on page 101 of the article “Why the Constitution Doesn’t Matter” [14 GREEN BAG 2D 99] there is a typo. Line two reads “. . . more important role in our political process that Tushnet acknowledges here.” I believe the highlighted “that” should be “than.”

Mr. Heffner is correct, and we thank him.

ARTICLE II IS NUMBER 1 AT LEGO

Why is there a Lego White House and no Lego Supreme Court or National Capitol? Is this a symptom of the Imperial Presidency? Or of fantasy reflecting reality? Or fantasy reflecting fantasy?
