

EX ANTE

OUR MISTAKES

Quite a while ago, our colleague Cattleya Concepcion noted in a rather smart-alecky email that we’ve published at least one too many articles:

In the annotation for the Chief Justice John Jay bobblehead, which appears in the Autumn 2010 issue of the Bag and on the website, the Bag explains that the Chief Justice holds the second volume of the U.S. Reports partly because it includes his opinion in Chisholm v. Georgia, “which inspired the the [sic] 11th amendment to the Constitution.” I think one “the” is sufficient.

We are finally getting around to dealing with the superfluous article. We are not going to reprint the Jay annotation minus half the offending “the the,” but we have fixed the problem in the “Bobbleheads” pages on our website. See www.greenbag.org/bobbleheads/bobbleheads.html.

OUR FIRST YEAR OF LIVING EXTRAVAGANTLY

For details, see Green Bagatelle #3: A Year of Extravagance in Legal Publishing.¹

¹ journaloflaw.us/9%20The%20Green%20Bagatelle/2016/Green%20Bagatelle%20no.%203%20\(2016\).pdf.pdf).