

WHAT WERE THEY THINKING?

Early this year, here in Ex Ante, under the heading “Your Thought, or Another’s,” we announced a “friendly competition” for readers who received packets of pink Thought Bubble Gum sticky notes from us. (They were distributed with a special Justice Sandra Day O’Connor Supreme Court Sluggers card.) We invited readers to affix a sticky Gum note to a picture of someone or something, with an appropriate thought in the bubble, and send a photo of the result to editors@greenbag.org.

We do not have room here to publish all of the entertaining items we received, but the example above (courtesy of Adam Hanson, whose charming children are reading his Green Bags while the family dog waits patiently for a turn) might give you a sense of the good spirit that infused nearly all of the entries.