

If you have a Justice Byron R. White bobblehead, you are holding the first of what we hope will turn out to be a long series of accessories you can display with your nodding ceramic portrait of the Justice. Instructions: Fold this card along the dashed line at right, with the red lion and the sound truck facing out. Slide the long edges opposite the folded edge into the slot at the front of the base of the bobblehead to display the image of your choice. If you do not have the bobblehead, you are holding what is, we hope, an entertaining reminder of two important First Amendment cases decided by the U.S. Supreme Court: Red Lion Broadcasting Co. v. Federal Communications Commission, 395 U.S. 367 (1969), and Kovacs v. Cooper, 336 U.S. 77 (1949).
